

Scam: Text, Email, and Phone Scams

What is the Scam?

Texts, emails, or phone calls falsely claiming to be from the Colorado Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV). These communications often use threatening language, such as demanding immediate payment, threatening legal action, like arrest, or warning of cancellation of a driver's license or registration. They often include a link that instructs you to click it to submit a payment.

The Risk

- Scammers send these messages to steal your personal information and your money.

How to Protect Yourself

Always keep in mind that the Colorado DMV will NEVER text, email, or call you to demand money or threaten to arrest you.

- DO NOT click any links in the text message.
- DO NOT give your name, ID number, or credit card information.
- DELETE the message immediately.

Verify Directly: If you are worried about your license or tickets, contact the Colorado DMV directly through its official website at DMV.Colorado.gov or by phone at (303) 205-5600.
